busy schedule?*

We may have the answer.....

The BON Pre-Conference

For those unable to attend our full conference may we suggest our one day pre-conference. It is a wonderful full day of learning and networking with colleagues in the field of bereavement and loss while enjoying the natural beauty of Orillia in the fall. Your full day registration also includes buffet lunch.

(There is also a pre-conference accommodation price for those wishing to arrive on the Tuesday evening and this also includes Tuesday night dinner and Wednesday morning breakfast.)

Full registration info is available on our website.

Option A

The Changing Trajectory of Loss

This full day workshop provides a unique lens on how individuals cope and adapt to loss over the long term. The stories of five 9/11 survivors, followed over 10 years through intimate video interviews, provide the backdrop for an introductory session on the changing nature of loss.

Join Dr. Donna Gaffney, Advisor for Education and Research at Project Rebirth (www.projectrebirth.org) in New York City, and Dr. Brenda Marshall, well known executive coach, facilitator and founder of the Solacium Group for this powerful day of learning.

Full workshop info for Option A & B is available on our website.

Option B

Resiliency Skills in Bereavement Care

This full day workshop will focus on discovering, enhancing and building on resiliency skills as it applies to those involved in loss or trauma. This workshop will be of benefit to frontline service providers and managers to assist their clients and staff members on how to discover and build on resiliency skills that are deep within us.

Join Eugene Dufour, Trauma and Bereavement Specialist and Compassion Fatigue Educator, as he explores the role of resiliency skills and post traumatic growth. Eugene is co-author of the recently published book "Embracing The End of Life - Help for Those Who Accompany The Dying".
